Col. METCALF ABROAD .- We learn from the Sandy Valley Advocate that Col. Metcalf, with his Mounted Rangers, is regulating Bath and adjoining counties. Having captured a rebel mail he was enabled to ascertain who the rebels in those counties were, who were aiding and assist ing the rebellion. It led to the discovery of 65, who were arrested and sent to Camp Chase. Served them right.

Col. Metcalf has held court in Morgan county. The rebels declared that Judge Reed should not hold court in that county. Col. Metcalf sent for him, and, giving him a military escort, placed him on the bench and protected him in the discharge of his efficial duties. We hope the Colonel will declare martial law in Morgan and keep a force there until every rebel is subdued.

GINAL PLAN OF THE EXPEDITION AGAINST CHARLESTON-OBSTACLES IN THE WAY OF A PROMPT MOVEMENT-SEVERE SKIRMISHING

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Monday June 23, 1862. PORT ROYAL, S. C., Monday June 23, 1862.

As early as the 1st of May, from the best information that could be obtained, it became evident to Gen. Benham, in command of the Northern District of the Department of the Stone, and that could the available forces under his command be rapidly concentrated on James Island, Fort Johnson could be at once taken and Charleston brought within reach of our batteries. After considerable reflection the project received the approval of Gen. Hunter, commanding the Department, and on the morning of June 2d the two Generals, with a part of the troops under General Stevens, left Hilton Head for the Stone, reaching it and landing at Old Battery in the afternoon. The water transportation of the Department had been greatly reduced by being diverted from it by the water transportation of the Department had been greatly reduced by being diverted from it by the Quartermaster at New York, and was in a very crippled cendition. On this account, besides calling in assistance from the navy, it was found necessary to send a large body of the troops to Edisto to be marched across John's Island to the stone, under Gen. Wright, and Col. Williams. troops, it was expected, would reach the on the morning of the 3d of June, as was ced by Gen. Wright; but, owing to failure of ferrying facilities and severe storm, they did not reach the Stono till Thursday, the 5th, and did not get across to James Island till the next Monday, the 9th.

Meantime, General Stevens had had several skirmishes with the enemy, and captured a battery of iron caronades, but losing some twenty men taken prisoners. General Wright's forces were landed at Grimball's Plantation, some two miles above Old Battery. When our troops first landed, the enemy's forces were very small in numbers, and could all our forces have been landed on the 31, as was intended, we could have seized fort Johnson and commanded Charleston with the greatest ease. But the untoward and unexpected dalays in transportation had now given the rebels a week's time to bring reinforcements from Savannah; but, as late as the 9th,

General Benham, who commanded in person, displayed great courses and gall also his I had just reached out my plate to be helped, my boy, when there came a great noise from the Mackerels in the front door yard.

"What's that?" says Captain Bob Shorty.

"O, nothing," says the female Confederacy, taking another bite of hoe-cake, "Ive only told one of the servants to throw some hot water on your reptile hirelings."

As Captain Bob Shorty turned to thank her for her explanation, and while his plate was extended, to be helped, the aged chivalry fired a pistol at him across the table, the ball just grazing his head and entering the wall behind him.

"By all that's blue!" says Captain Bob Shorty, his department, a thorough and competent officer.

But I must hasten to the close of this bloody and disastrous day. While Gen. Benham seemed to hesitate whether to risk more loss of life in a second onset upon the enemy's works, the gunboats, to add to the disasters of the day, commenced throwing shells right into our own ranks, owing, doubtless, to misconception regarding their position, the precise situation of the contending parties being concealed from them by the woods, one shell even bursting in the immediate vicinity of the Commanding General and his Staff. This was followed by an order for the forces to be withdrawn upon the original picket lines, and thus closed one of the most deplorable engage-ments of the war. Gen. Benham is understood to be under arrest by order of Gen. Hunter, for disobedience to orders; his plea being understood to be that, although the order from Hunter was not to advance selves of the opportunity of having you sworn as to all you may know touching the whereabouts of their deluded children, and what connection you may have had with their destruction.

It is all folly and worse than folly for men to think that they can be permitted to pretend to sustain the Government with one hard while they are really tearing it down with both. On and water will not mix. Traitors and loyal citizens cannot work together, either at the polis or anywhere elss. Traitors must take shelter with Jeff Davis or at Camp Chase, and loyal citizens alone must administer the Government.

In this all folly and worse than folly for men to the sustain the Government with one hard while of the pretend to sustain the Government with one hard while of the pretend to the pretend to sustain the Government with one hard while one but traitors."

In the Western Recorder of the 31st of May we find, in the closing paragraph of an editorial, the following. After replying to the question of a correspondent as to the proper title by which to designate preachers, the editor saye: "If all our preachers would preach Christ and him crucified, and be in season and out of season in parauading men to be reconciled to God, and leave the very far less important matter of politics, and war, and government, and all outside matters to the care of those whose business it is to care for them, we should esteem them worthy of double honor, and quarral with no man for calling him reverend," We agree with the editor as to the theme of a gospel minister. and Him crucified, he has done his work in the preaching department. But how a man can preach Christ and leave out war and government, &c., is the ques in to be decided. To preach Christ in the gospel import of that term is to preach Him in His character, in Mis offices, in His mission, in His precepts, and in His practice. The minister who can content himself with preaching less than this is not to be envied, though the Editor of the Western Recorder esteems him worthy of dcuble honor. Did Christ recognize political government, and war as a ecognize political government, and war as a means of its defence? If so, government always implies two things. 1. The ability to execute or inforce the law in its defence, and, 2. The will do so.

A government, either destitute of will or power

A government, either destitute of will or power to execute its laws, is not worth the name. It is true, when the question is who shall be the next President, or shall we have high tariff or low, statesmen may be left to the discussion of these matters. But whon the question is, shall we acknowledge the claims of a President elected and sworn into office according to the laws of the Government under which we live, though all other men should be silent, preachers should speak, and all Christians should say amen. That is to say, it is the religious duty of every Christian to obey the laws that protect him in his political rights, and preachers should teach men their religious duties. But to the law and the testimony. When Christ was asked "Shall we pay tribute or

I have written the foregoing communication to give expression to my own views. I can neither call treason politics, nor ignore the fact that there is an organized party in rebellion in this Government working devestation and ruin. Ner can I unite with the members who pray for peace without loyalty. Whatever a man prays for, he should habor to accomplish. Treason has caused this war, and when we pray for peace we should put forth our efforts to remove the cause, and the effect will cause. Such is the doctring which we effect will cease. Such is the doctrine which we have, and shall, "if the Lord will," continue to preach to at least 500 Baptists, with a number of thers who listen as though they believed what a preached.

YOUNG MEN, TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.—
Dr. H. devotes much of his time to the treatment of those case caused by a secret habit which ruins both body and mind, anfitting the unfortunate individual for either business or society. The sad effect of these early habits, or the excess of riper years, are to weaken and debilitate the constitution, destroy the physical and mental powers, diminish and enfeeble the natural feelings, and exhaust the vital energies of manhood: the pleasures of life are marred, the object of marriage frustrated, and existence itself rendered a term of unceasing misery and regret. We have no hesitation in pronouncing this movement one of the most brilliant on record, and if General McClellan had been conducting a dress parade, it could not have been more orderly. He first provided for the subsistence

"A Military Adventurer.—In the early part of this war, Gen. McClellan wrote to a distinguished officer in the South, expressing his desire to serve in the Confederate army. If he dare deny the fact, and his recent reports prove that in mendacity he is the representative man of the Yankee nation, it can be demonstrated by such evidence as will close his lips in eternal silence. When he was at West Point, he affected to fracturize especially with these from the South, and of his troops for a few days, while his main stores could be moved around, and then he carried out his plan of swinging his right wing to the rear and advancing his left wing to open unication with the James river flotilla at Turkey Island, eight miles below Fort Darling, which can at any time be carried by investment or assault, and the river thus cleared for our gunboats to proceed up to Rocketts, when Richmond will be at their mercy. By consulting Lloyd's Military Map of Virginia, these ocations can all be seen: White House, from whence the forces were retired: Fair Oaks, near which our right wing now rests; and Turkey Island Bridge, upon which the old right wing was swung, with the centre as a pivot, upon the rear of the main left wing. Communications were entirely reopened on Monday, and we expect the next news will be that all obstructions on James river have been removed, and our transports conveyed by the gunboats under full sail for the rebel capital.

But the mask is transpapathizing with that unpatriotic and detestable | rent. The real face shines through the false party." We hope he will now make all haste one. And a hideous face it is, -as hideous as to publish a fourth handbill, telling us whether slander and malignity can make it. Shame he wishes the vote of any secessionist or any on the journal, that, in this solemn crisis o one sympathizing with that unpatriotic and the nation, covertly strikes hands with the detestable party.

It is natural enough that those insidious rebels in the loyal States, who do not dare It is in such calumny that treason assume to attack the Union openly, should seek to accomplish their purpose by endeavoring to overthrow the Union's greatest friends and champions. GEN. HALLECK'S ARMY .- A correspondent writing from Corinth under date of June 15th says that a highly important special order has ust been issued by General Halleck, by which the order uniting the three corps engaged in the investment of Corinth, namely, the army of the Mississippi, under General Pope, the army of the Ohio, under General Buell, and the army of West Tennessee, under General Grant, in a grand army, is revoked. Hereafter they will operate again independently of each other. Gen. Grant reassumes command of the army of West Tennessee, without any control over the two other corps; General Thomas's old division, however, continues to form part of the former. The two divisions constituting the reserve, under the command of General McClernand, are likewise reattached to the army of West Tennessee, so that it is now composed of seven divisions, namely: Thomas's, Hurlbut's, Davies's, W. T. Sherman's, McKeane's, Wallace's, and McClernaud's.

The order in question has been followed by thers showing that it was to prepare the way for a disposition of the army on a more extended line. Immediately after his return from the pursuit, Gen. Buell was directed to prepare his corps for a march into Northern Alabama, and, accord ingly, the four divisions of Generals McCcok, Crittenden, Nelson, and Wood, have been moving along the Memphis and Charleston road since day before yesterday. Their advance is reported to have reached Tuscumbia last evening.

Gen. Pope's command, it appears, will hold its present position, along the Mobile and Ohio railroad, for some time. Four divisions of the army of the Tennessee have been moving in the direction of Memphis. over various routes, for some days. Gen. Sherman's was, at last accounts, at Lagrange, three miles west of Grand Junction; Wallace's, a short listance north of it, near Summerville, and Mc-Clernand's at Jackson. The three other divisions of the army of Weit

Tennessee—Thomas, Davies, and McKean's have been constituted a garrison corps for the ocdipation of this place, under the command of Gen

It is manifestly the intention of Gen. Halleck to discontinue further offensive operations against the enemy; give the army rest during the hot season, and establish in the meantime a new base of operations by opening the Memphis and Charleston and other railroads now in our possession. Gen. Buell's army will, doubtlessly, be so distributed as to hold the M. & C. R. R. from the Alabama line to Chattanooga, and Gen. Grant's from the line to Memphis, while Gen. Pops's will be held available for any emergency between our line and that of the enemy.

ARRESTS IN TENNESSEE. -The Nashville Union learns that a detachment of Pennsylvania cavalry went up into Sumner county, where some rebels were raising recruits for guerilla service, and seized eight men and four excellent horses as they were crossing the river. The captives were brought to Nashville on Sunday.

The Union also states that the notorious Rev. C. D. Elliott, a literary quack from Ohio, who has been keeping a sort of boarding school for young ladies in Nashville, and for some time past a red-mouthed rebel, was arrested and sent to the Penitentiary on Monday for treason, to be sent South. Last winter at prayer-meeting in one of the churches, this blasphemer prayed God Almighty to whiten the hills and valleys of the South with the bones of the men who fought to preserve the Union! The Union thinks he ought to be dressed in piebald breeches and set to picking rock. We have already stated that Dr. Cheatham, Superintendent of the State Lunatic Asylum, was arrested on the same charge and sent. to the Penitentiary. He will be shipped to

to the Penitentiary. He will be shipped to Dixie.

Mint Coinage.—An increased coins go of cents has taken place at Philadelphia during the past month, amounting to $10,000, and this coinage, being double the usual monthly amount, will continue for a considerable period longer. The mint offers at any time to give cents for United States demand notes. It has recently re-coined $500,000 in eagles, sent from New York, into gold dollars, for the convenience of the Government. A large amount of gold and cilver is expected during the coming three months from the mines of California, Colorado, and Washoe, and in less than a month the heavy premium now charged for specie may be materially reduced.

Rebel Pensioners Cut Off.—A despatch dated Washington, June 30th, says the pensions cut off by the bill in the Senate were stopped secause the ladies drawing them are avowed secessionists. A pension was granted to the widow of the late Major-General Chas. F. Smith, of Paducah, of $50 per month. This is more than customary.

THEATRE.—Miss Florence Lafond makes her first appearance in our city this evening, performng Aline, in the drama of the Rose of Killarney. There is a romance about Miss Lafond: young, beautifu', and rich, she has adopted the stage from a passionate love of the drama. Of course a conjugate will be excited to see her.

It will be a compliment handsomely tendered and richly deserved. We learn from the New Albany Ledger that Mrs. Hedden, an old and highly esteemed resident of that city, while engaged in sewing yesterday morning, dropped dead from her seat. She was one of the oldest residents of New Albany, and universally esteemed.

Mr. John H. Almond, one of the publishers of this paper, leaves to-day for Louisville. It is his intention during his sejourn in that city, to call apon its business men and solicit advertising for the Union. Any contracts made by him, or his receipt for moneys, will in all cases be recegnized by this office. We commend him to the considerition of the business men of Louisville, and hope hey will respond liberally to his solicitations.— Nashville Union of yesterday.

We hope our business men will see that it is to heir business interest to advertise liberally in this staunch Union paper. By so doing, while they secure custom for themselves, they will most materially aid the restoration of friendly relations between the cities of Louisville and Nashville, and of their respective States. The Union has a very large and contantly increasing circulation, is most ably edited, nd is universally popular among the loyal people f Tennessee.

COLD-BLOODED MURDER .-- On Tuesday, June 17, Charles L. Lewis was murdered at his resi-lence near Cote Sans Dessein, in this county, by some person firing upon him from behind the stable, where the murderer secreted himself. He ras killed almost instantly. The deed was per-etrated near midday. Every effort is being nade by the military authorities at this post to ferret out the guilty party or parties, but so far without success. Lewis had taken an active part in giving whatever information he deemed of alue to the Federal soldiers, and this is suppos have caused his murder by some person of persons, who sought this means of revenge Lewis was an aged man, probably near sixty years of age. He leaves a helpless family.—Fulton (Mo) Telegraph.

There is one insinuation in ract, than argument. There is one instination in R.'s article that requires a passing notice, viz: that the writers have "private encs to accomplish," and are "the consignees of certain express packages," from which teachers shall be selected in place of the loyal Kentuckians who may refuse to take the oath. I am personally acquainted with all the different writers on this subject and efficient that not one of them wishes ject, and affirm that not one of them wishes but loyal Kentucksans employed, and would as much opposed to importing teachers as "R." an be-perhaps more so than he is. On motion of Mr. Wiley, the bill for the admission of Western Virginia as a State was taken up—the question being on the amendment offered by Mr. Summer, that, after the 4th of July, 1863, within the limits of said State of Western Virginia, there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude otherwise than for the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall be duly convicted.

Mr. Summer said that the bill proposed that all children born after April, 1863, shall be free, but allowed the present generation of slaves to confidence to their State. While on this criment of the public prints when it seemed to be in danger of being perverted into a powerful instrument of lasting evil in our midst. LOUISVILLE, July 1, 1862. An Outrage.—A few days since, a soldier of Col. Craynor's 40th Ohio regiment, named Archy Stanley, started from this point to go to Prestonsburg. On his way up, a few miles below Louisa, near the mouth of Hurricane, he was attacked by three guerillas, who robbed him of his pocket book, pun, and all his clothes, except his pants and shirt. Before robbing him they dragged him from the road into the bushes. After the robbery, one of the villains deliberately shot him through the men who may be possibly as wise as we. If he wanted to deal with this thing as a practical fact, he would hail the advent of a slave State into the Union, with a clause for gradual emancipation, more gladly and with greater satisfaction than the admission of a free State. Why? Because there is more joy over one sinner that repenteth than over ninety-nine needing no repentence.

Mr. Wilkinson offered the following:

Resolved, That the President inform the Senate, if not incompatible with the public interest. of the villains deliberately shot him through the leg, inflicting a very severe, though not fatal wound. After lying in the woods for some time, he dragged himself to the house of Michael B. Loar, a secessionist, by whose family, Stanley says, he was most brutally treated, they refusing to get and only civing him a Resolved, That the Fresident inform the Senate, if not incompatible with the public interest, whether Charles C. Mr. Stanley is now in this place. He is rapidly recovering, and will be able to be about in a few days.

A good deal of pains have been taken to apprehend the perpetrators of this outrage, but so far they have been unavailing.

Loar, at whose house Stanley remained all night, and who charged him fifty cents for the privilege, has been arrested and taken to Colonel Craynor's heedougaters. Craynor's headquarters.
Sandy Valley (Ky) Advocate.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Tariff bill.

Among the amendments adopted were the following—subjecting paper cigars and cigarettes to the same duty as that imposed on cigars; making only castor seeds and beans 50 cents per bushel; making the duty on all sugar above No. 12 and not above No. 15, duties standard in color, 3 cents per pound, and on all above No. 15, not stove dried, and not above 20, duties standard in color, 4 cents per pound—all importers at home and abroad are requested to have their invoices authenticated, and it is provided that the bill shall take effect on the first of August.

the recent successes in driving the Taiping ces from the neighborhood of Shanghai: The alarming feature in the case, however, is he sudden and enormous influx of the Taipings upon the Yang szekiang. The city of Nankin lone was reinforced by an army no less than 300,000 strong. Steamers on the passage from Harkow to Shanghai report having seen man towns and cities on fire, after saving bee sacked by the Taipings. The watched inhabitants lined the banks of the river in many place. and were constructing rafts of furniture, and coats of casks. At page 6 will be found som rerbatim extracts of these authoritic reports Embraced in this article.—Eps.] The notice rom Nankin contained in the same page are written by parties inimical to the insurgents, and though there are rumors of Imperial successes till it is abundantly clear from the statements.

still it is abundantly clear from the statements of the writers of these notices, eye-witnesses at Naukin, that the Imperial troops are as little able to cope with the Tairings as they ever were. Therefore the danger to foreign in creats be-comes apparent and is imminent. Really the Taiping contingent at Shanghai falls into insig-nificance when compared with their immenses Taiping contingent at Shanghai falls into insignificance when compared with their immense armies at a variety of other places, where they appear to have sprung out of the earth. If the foreign forces at Shanghai can be kept there to protect the city against the bodies of Taipings who continue to menace it at a distance, the probability is that the retaliatory measures which the rebels are adopting will intensify the calamities to which the country has been so long subject. And even should a portion of the foreign torce be detached to assist the Imperialists up the Yangtezs, there is nothing to prevent the Yaipings from carrying out their threat of ovarnuing the silk and tes districts, nor of carrying their fearful deprecations into the very heart of Shanghai there would appear to be some misgiv-ngs about the coming supply of silk, the price for the refuse remaining succe, of last season in ising, and every bag brought to market at Japan

The Trade Report also describes in detail the recent conflicts between The Europeans and insurgents, in which Col. Ward acted a conspicuous part. First, is an account of an expedition against the Taipings, which started from Shanghai Apri This consisted of about 2,000 men, English nd Frencia. In the conflict which ensued, the ebels were soon put to flight, but on its return he Chinese contingent of 1,000 men under Col. Word which had been detained on the road, came up and resolved to attack another rebel encampalsed by a heavy fire from the barricade. This empt to take it by storm was repeated several nes when five officers and seventy men were ced hors du combat.

lition, which left Shanghai April 17th, was ore successful. It comprised 2,400 men (inuding 400 of Ward's disciplined Chinese), and arteen guns, and was directed against the rong rebel post at Choopoo. The works were und to consist of stockades surrounded by three belts of pallisades, two wet ditches, &c., with of the latter being an octagonal brick tower, French rifled guns and artillery, while Ward's kirmishers attacked the flanks, making dreadful avoc. The enemy were shortly after seen rereating in three parallel columns to the eastrard, toward the walled city of Chunza. Heavy aval guns were brought to bear on the retreatng mass, with terrible effect. The abandoned amp was rich in loot of all kinds. As the houses were ransacked great quantities if valuable jewels, gold, silver, dollars, and costy dresses were found, which was fair loot to the ficers and men. One blue jacket found 1,600 bllars, and several soldiers upwards of 500 each, while many picked up gold earrings, bangles, and other ornaments, set with pearls and precious stones. It was a glorious day of looting for everybody, and we hear that one party, who discovered the Taiping treasury chest, with several thousard dollars in it, after loading himself to his han he could well bear—a marked case of l'em-barras des richesses. The rebel stud of ponies was well supplied also, and many of the soldiers rode back with their booty to the place of embar-kation. About 5 P. M. the naval brigade, the 99 h French, and the 5th Bombay regiment re-turned, leaving the 22d Punjanb regiment to hold of the settlement. By this time the tide had risen sufficiently to float the boats left down the creek, where the guns were landed, and they were easily got on board the gunboats. The whole force then reembarked, and returned safely next morning.

At an approximate estimate, there could not have been less than 8,000 adult Taiping rebels in this camp, out of whom about 500 were killed and 800 taken prisoners. It is satisfactory to know that among the killed there were some of the chiefs, and that few pressed men became victims. They were chiefly long haired fighting men who were slain.

To show the terrible devastation occasioned in the valley of the Yangtsze by the Taiping rebelion, we copy the following account of the burnirg of several populous cities on the 2d of April

The rebel forces occupied the hills from the Kien hien pagoda toward Tgih kang, and the Imperialist war jurks were blazing away at them from the river opposite the city of Kien-hien. The banks of the river for miles were crowded The banks of the river for miles were crowded with people, and the entire country in flames. The city of Tieh-kiang was entirely destroyed. Further down, the Taipings were in possession of Sauchau village and creek, and were marching upon the town opposite Point Haines. From Woohu the river banks were again crowded with people seeking refuge; boats came off to foreign vessels, as they passed, for conveyance of passengers. Further down again, the rebel city of Hochow was being attacked by the Imperial forces, and large fires in every direction were observed. Rebel forces were crossing from Thai-ping-foo in large numbers to reinforce their army. The western shore of Nankin Reach was lined with people, apparently all villagers, ready army. The western shore of Nankin Reach was lined with people, apparently all villagers, ready for embarkment. On April 8d, the rebel forces were burning the city of Eching (15 miles above Chinkaing Fox). The whole of the suburbs were reduced to ashes, and every surrounding village and hamlet were in flames. A portion of the city was reserved by the Taipings for their encampment, where their flags were in large numbers, and their forces were not a half mile from the bark of the river, which was thronged with thousands of people and covered with tons of furniture, the river was filled with junks, and the opposite shore crowded with the refugees. The Imperial war junks were overladen with inhabitants demanding protection. Boats were so hard Imperial war junks were overladen with inhabitants demanding protection. Boats were so hard to be obtained that the people were building rafts of tables and chairs and shop furniture, and some were sculling and paddling in tubs. The steamer Hellespont, with a brig alongside, lay abreast of an enclosure filled with fire-wood, which was safe. The American and Messrs. Howard & Co.'s flags were flying in the enclosure. At Chinkning food aduly attack of the rebels was expected."

A Hong Kong paper, in attempting to vindicate the rebels from the charge of barbarity, as compared with the Imperialist forces, thus refers to a

The Nova Scotia arrived this morning—dates 22d. The Europa arrived out on the 21st.

The Times publishes a letter from its New York correspondent, in which he says that if England and France intend stepping in at the last moment, now is the time to urge submission on the South, and magnanimity on the North, for unless Beauregard and other leaders succeed in retreating to Texas, there is not the slightest hope for their cause. Their dream of independence has ended, and they can do nothing further to realize it except by hopeless guerilla warfare. The morning Herald gives different views. It represents the Confederates as very strong, but is very doubtful about their risking another engagement at Richmond. He is assured that the Federal loss at Fair Oaks was 13,000.

Is that your report sir, and your name? precepts of love and charity were co-extensive with the world. You cannot justify your conduct before man or God.

Chap.—I had to go with my State and defend her. That is justifiable warfare.

Gov.—There are rules of warfare which Christians and barbarians alike observe. You advised the turning loose of felons and placing arms in their hands. Did you get that from your Bible? Does it tell you that a man may atone for a felony by committing treason?

Chap.—As I said before, I cannot discuss politics—it is not my profession. Christ said to his apostles, "My kingdom is not of this world."

Gov.—Yes, and I believe there was a Judas among his disciples. If he were on earth again there are some of his professed teachers who would sell him for less than thirty pieces of silver. They would betray him for half the money.
